Antonia Kasper – Editor

I want to acknowledge with special thanks, Antonia Kasper. Over a span of a few months she pushed me to literary and creative limits I'd never imagined, and tirelessly encouraged me to discover my true voice. Her out of the box thinking has been an inspiration. For that, I'm grateful. All this she accomplished with a four-month-old baby daughter. To me, that's the definition of a "super woman." Thank you, Toni, for accompanying me on this journey.

Veronica Smith – Copy editor

A special thank you to the ever talented Veronica Smith for catching all we missed, despite drenching rainstorms ruining entire weeks of work and a stomach flu laying you flat; all with such grace, lightheartedness, and enthusiasm. You'll go far in this business, I feel it.

Those who allowed The Diaries to come through me to life

Dirk Kennedy for working his magic on all the random & crazy sounds I brought up from the underground. Max Shuppert for his tireless artistry in designing the covers, typesetting, exceptional professionalism & makin' me giggle. Til Turner for expert input on grammar & style and being a joy to work with. Hennig Fischer for braving the underground with me to shoot the cover. Henry Picado for sharing his immense talent as a clothing designer. Tyrone Smith for his coaching talent and musical contributions that often mirrored my musical journey underground. To Pete Bennett for his unwavering support. To Veronica Smith for her expert final proof. To all the photographers who contributed their talent, passion and love of their art to the Diaries: Tolga Adanali, Paul
